

Where to Go Camping Guide

A Unit's Guide to the Outdoors

Presented by East Carolina Council Boy Scouts of America

WHY SHOULD WE GO CAMPING?

Camping is a major part of the scouting program.

Scouts who camp on a normal basis get more out of the program and stay in scouts longer.

Campers tend to advance more frequently.

CAMPING IS FUN!!!!

THE TEN CAMPING ESSENTIALS

- Pocket Knife
- Flashlight
- First Aid Kit
- Trail Food
- Extra Clothing
- Fire Starters
- Rain Gear
- Map & Compass
- Water
- Sun Protection

LOW IMPACT/LEAVE NO TRACE CAMPING

If your troop or patrol comes upon a place in the woods that looks completely unused, odds are that the group before you used a technique called Low Impact/Leave No Trace Camping. This technique consists of preparing your meals over stoves rather than fires, pitching your tents away from small plants, and packing your trash. Low-Impact Camping is a fun way to challenge yourself and help the environment all at the same time. This method also helps you travel lightly on the land. This method shows that you as a scout are living true to the high ideals of the Scout Oath, Scout Law, and Outdoor Code.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE CAMPSITE?

The goal of this camping booklet is to make units in the East Carolina Council aware of camping areas both within and outside of North Carolina. This booklet has been made to promote more camping. Promoting camping is the first and foremost goal of the Order of the Arrow.

East Carolina Council has a great interest in learning about favorite campsites enjoyed by local Council units. Any new additions will be added when this booklet is updated. Let us know about your favorite site, so we can spread the enjoyment of camping.

HAMMOCKS BEACH STATE PARK

Venture to Bear Island and reward yourself with vivid memories of one of the most unspoiled beaches on the Atlantic coast. Accessible only by passenger ferry or private boat, there's just one thing at Hammocks Beach that's crowded? The list of things to do. Stroll the beach with laughing gulls and sandpipers. Cast a baited hook into endless rows of foaming breakers. Discover tiny specimens of marine life in tidal pools and mudflats. Use a camera or paintbrush to capture the green and gold grasses that color the salt marshes. Spend the night among the sand dunes, or simply bask in the sun and do nothing at all. Secluded and tranquil, free from intruding commercialism, Hammocks Beach may not be for everyone, but the island is a retreat for people who welcome the challenges of relentless sun, sand, sea and sky.

Address: 1572 Hammocks Beach Road Swansboro, North Carolina 28584 Phone: 910-326-4881

JOCKEY RIDGE STATE PARK

There are many reasons why millions of people visit Jockey's Ridge State Park. Some come to see the tallest sand dune on the Atlantic coast; others come for the spectacular sunsets. At Jockey's Ridge State Park, you can experience the world of the desert. Shifting sands, high winds, extreme temperatures and a lack of water make the park resemble barren environments such as the Sahara Desert. You also can explore the wonders of an estuarine environment. The tidal waters of the Roanoke Sound, the western boundary of the park, is a rich habitat for a variety of plant and animal life, making these waters the source of much of the sea's bounty.

LAKE WACCAMAW STATE PARK

Located in Columbus County 40 miles west of Wilmington, Lake Waccamaw State Park sits on the shores of the largest Carolina bay. There are 500,000 of these mysterious craters, and the lake is one of the few that contains open water instead of vegetation. A limestone bluff reduces the lake's acidity, making it an ideal home for several aquatic species that are found nowhere else in the world. A pedestrian bridge over Waccamaw Dam allows visitors to travel the lake's entire 14-mile shoreline. Address: 1866 State Park Drive Lake Waccamaw, North Carolina 28450 Phone: 910-646-4748

TOWN CREEK INDIAN MOUND

Town Creek Indian Mound is an unusual phenomenon in the history of North American archaeology. While most archaeological sites are investigated for a few years before archaeologists move on to new locations, Town Creek, situated on Little River (a tributary of the Great Pee Dee in central North Carolina), has been the focus of a consistent program of archaeological research for more than half a century. This research has contributed to scientific understanding of the original inhabitants of our continent and has provided educational opportunities for many graduate and undergraduate students in anthropology. Moreover, these contributions to science and higher education were made as the site contributed directly to public education.

North Carolina's National Forests

Croatan National Forest
Nantahala National Forest
Pisgah National Forest
Uwharrie National Forest

CROATAN NATIONAL FOREST

Croatan National Forest, one of four National Forests in North Carolina and the only true coastal forest in the East. The Croatan National Forest's 160,000 acres have pine forests, saltwater estuaries, bogs and raised swamps called pocosins. Bordered on three sides by tidal rivers and the Bogue Sound, the forest is defined by water. All this water provides a variety of recreation and diversity of wildlife- from deer, black bears and turkeys to wading birds, ospreys and alligators. Canoeing and fishing are popular on blackwater creeks and saltwater marshes. The Croatan is also home to the carnivorous Venus flytrap, sundew and pitcher plant. The Croatan National Forest has one Ranger District, the Croatan Ranger District. Please contact the District for more information.

CEDAR POINT RECREATION AREA

The Cedar Point Recreation Area, near the mouth of the White Oak River, is surrounded by a salt marsh and a coastal forest. The salt marsh, where fresh water meets salt water, stretches out like a sea of grass. This nutrient-rich wetland is a valuable "nursery" for commercial seafood, including fish, shrimp, crabs and oysters. A small-craft boat ramp and fishing pier provides easy access to the river and its bounty. The shallow water is suited to flat-bottom boats. Canoes and kayaks can navigate the maze of canals through the salt march. From the boat ramp, paddle around the point, then pass under the boardwalk of the Tideland Trail. Be aware of the tides; an extremely low tide can leave some canals dry. The loop is shown on the map is about 2 miles and can be completed in half a day. The campground has 36 sites with electrical hookups, a bathhouse with flush toilets, warm showers, drinking water and a ramp for shallow water boats. Picnic tables are nearby. The Cedar Point Tideland Trail crosses boardwalks to explore the salt marsh and the life above and beneath.

CEDAR POINT CAMPGROUND

The Cedar Point Recreation Area, near the mouth of the White Oak River, is surrounded by a salt marsh and a coastal forest. The salt marsh, where fresh water meets salt water, stretches out like a sea of grass. This nutrient-rich wetland is a valuable "nursery" for commercial seafood, including fish, shrimp, crabs and oysters. This recreation area is a dynamic place affected by hurricanes, rising sea levels, and insect epidemics, such as Southern pine beetles that devastate nearby pine trees. On a daily basis, this living community contends with the change brought by the tides. This is a place to slow down and savor nature's beauty.

FLANNERS BEACH/NEUSE RIVER CAMPGROUND

Located under tall pines and hardwoods, each of the 40 campsites is equipped with a picnic table, fire ring and lantern poles. Two of these sites only allow double occupancy. Electrical hookups are available at 24 sites. The campground offers showers, restrooms, drinking water and a trailer dump station for registered campers' use. Users can stretch their legs on an accessible one-mile trail that winds through the mixed pine-hardwood forest near both the campground and picnic area. More than five additional miles are also available to bikers and hikers, but no motorized vehicles or horses are allowed.

NANTAHALA NATIONAL FOREST

Welcome to the Nantahala National Forest! The Nantahala National Forest lies in the mountain and valleys of southwestern North Carolina. The largest of North Carolina's four National Forests, the Nantahala encompasses 531,148 acres with elevations ranging from 5,800 feet at Lone Bald in Jackson County to 1,200 feet in Cherokee County along Hiwassee River. The Forest is divided into three Districts, Cheoah in Robbinsville, NC, Tusquitee in Murphy, NC, and the Nantahala in Franklin, NC. All district names come from the Cherokee language. "Nantahala" is a Cherokee word meaning "land of the noon day sun," a fitting name for the Nantahala Gorge, where the sun only reaches to the valley floor at midday. The Nantahala National Forest was established in 1920 under authority of the 1911 Weeks Act. This act provided authority to acquire lands for national forests to protect watersheds, to provide timber, and to regulate the flow of navigable streams. In the Nantahala National Forest, visitors enjoy a wide variety of recreational activities from whitewater rafting to camping. With over 600 miles of trails, opportunities exist for hikers, mountain bikers, horse-back riders and off-highway vehicle riders.

CHEOAH RANGER DISTRICT

The Cheoah Ranger District has 120,500 acres in Graham and Swain Counties. These lands surround four large mountain reservoirs and contain numerous streams. Fishing, boating, whitewater rafting, hunting, hiking, and viewing fall colors are some popular activities. From the Cherochala Skyway, you can enjoy mountain vistas. The Appalachian Trail and other trails make up a network of some 320 miles that cross the district. The district offers trails for horseback riders, mountain bikers, short-distance hikers, and backpackers. Several lakeside, streamside, and scenic developed campgrounds, and picnic areas provide a variety of outdoor experiences.

RATTLER FORD CAMPGROUND

Rattler Ford has four units that accommodate 25 people per unit. Showers, horseshoe pits, and a volleyball court are available. A trout stream and hiking trails are nearby.

APPLETREE GROUP CAMPING

Looking for a campsite for a group of people near the Nantahala River? The four sites at Appletree Group Campground accommodates two sites (A and D) for up to 25 people each and two sites (B and C) for up to 50 people each. Each site has its own picnic shelter, outdoor group gathering area with a fire ring and lantern posts, restroom with flush toilets, water hydrant, designated parking area and a grassy field for tents and activities. The campground offers a shower house.

KIMSEY CREEK GROUP CAMPGROUND

A pleasant setting for a group camp. It is bordered by the Nantahala River, a native trout stream, and numerous hiking trails to adjoining mountain peaks are present. Three group sites with a maximum of 25 people per site are available on a reservation basis only. Kimsey Creek Group Campground is a group area within Standing Indian Campground. Big and small game hunting occurs in the surrounding area.

STANDING INDIAN CAMPGROUND

Standing Indian Campground is a camper's delight, whether you're camping in an RV or in a tent. The campground is surrounded by 5,000-foot peaks and crossed by several natural trout streams. It is the focal point of numerous hiking trails and has easy access to the Appalachian Trail. The campground can be a pleasant stopover on your trip or a place to spend several days to explore this scenic and historic section of the Nantahala National Forest. All this within a scenic, 20-minute drive to Franklin, N.C. The campground has 5 loops with sites available first come, first serve or by reservation. Fire ring grills, lantern posts, and picnic tables are provided at each site, with close proximity to drinking water, flush toilets and showers. A group camping area, Kimsey Creek, is located in Standing Indian Campground.

UWHARRIE NATIONAL FOREST

Uwharrie National Forest is a federally designated national forest region located primarily in Montgomery County, but also extending into Randolph and Davidson counties in south central North Carolina. With more than 50,000 acres and nearly 80 square miles of territory, the Uwharrie National Forest is a treasure trove full of beautiful scenery, wildlife and trails for all sorts of activities. There is ample room for horseback riding, hiking, trail running, mountain biking, hunting, camping, dedicated trails for off-road vehicles and more. Here is a ph. # for the Uwharrie National Forest office at 789 Hwy. 24/27 E. in Troy, NC 27371: (910) 576-6391. Here is what an avid hiker/camper wrote about the area 1/3/18: Backpacking in Uwharrie is worth the trip. The lower elevations make it easier to deal with the gains and losses. There's plenty of water. Campsites are everywhere. Trails are well-marked and well-maintained. It's clean. And there are many combinations of trails that could be used to create a pretty spectacular hike. If you haven't already, you should definitely check out the Uwharrie National Forest.

BADIN LAKE RECREATION AREA

Badin Lake Campground offers 34 sites for tent, camping trailer or RV camping. There are several campsites on the lakeshore of Badin Lake which can be accessed via boat, canoe, or kayak. This campground offers flush toilets, showers & drinking water hydrants. There is no electricity and no dump station at this campground. Badin Lake Group Camp offers 3 sites for up to 50 people each. There are flush toilets, vault toilets, showers & 3 drinking water hydrants. There are no electrical hookups and there is no dump station. This campground is available by reservation only.

ARROWHEAD CAMPGROUND

Arrowhead Campground has 48 sites for Tent/RV camping. Sites #46-#49 are tent only. All sites, except for site #23, are accessible to people with disabilities. Each site has a table, grill, fire ring, lantern post and parking spur. The campground has 6 spigots/hydrants located around the campground for drinking water. A bathhouse with flush toilets, hot showers, and sinks is available. There is a family restroom located at the front of the bathhouse if privacy is desired. A 0.75-mile paved bicycle/walking path loops around the campground. The fee-station is located at the entrance to the campground. There is a dump station located across from the pay station. Payment can be made by cash or check: make checks out to the USDA Forest Service.

CANEBRAKE HORSE CAMP

Canebrake Horse Camp has 28 sites with parking spurs for horse trailers. Four of these sites are double camp sites. Each site has a picnic table, grill, fire ring, lantern post, tie posts, tack tables, and electrical hookups. Up to two vehicles are allowed at each site. The camp also provides water spigots for drinking water, hot showers, and flush toilets. Electric hookups available, but no water/sewer hookups at each site. A sewage dump station and a horse washing station are centrally located. The Equestrian Trail System can be accessed from Canebrake using the Home Trail, which skirts the campground. There are approximately 40 miles of horse trails, ranging in difficulty from easy to more difficult.

UWHARRIE HUNT CAMP

Uwharrie Hunt Camp has eight sites for tent camping. Each site has a table, grill, lantern posts, and tent pad. Two vault toilets and trash cans are provided in the campground. There are also 2 drinking water spigots available. Campers have to park in the one parking lot and walk to their campsite.

WEST MORRIS MOUNTAIN CAMPGROUND

West Morris Mtn. Campground has 14 individual campsites and 2 group campsites available at this location. Two vault toilets and three double trash cans are located within the campground. All sites have a table, grill/fire ring, lantern post and camping pad. These sites are suitable for either tents or RV's. There is no water or electrical hook-ups at this location. We recommend you bring a cookstove for cooking meals. This is a very rustic campground.

Opportunities for hunting and hiking are available. A 3/4-mile trail leads from the campground to the Uwharrie National Recreation Trail, a 28-mile National Recreational Trail. A small country store is located about 3 miles away in the small community called Eldorado. This store and gas station are north of the intersection of Ophir Road and NC Hwy 109N. The town of Troy is approximately 15 minutes south on NC Hwy 109N where there are grocery stores, gas stations, restaurants and other amenities.

YATES PLACE

Yates Place Camp was an old home site, but now serves as an attractive destination for tent camping. A vault toilet, tables, and grills are available at the site. Yates Place Camp is located near the Uwharrie Trail, a 20-mile National Recreation hiking trail. This camp is also popular with deer hunters and hiking groups that use it as a base camp or staging area.

HIKING IN

NORTH CAROLINA

HIKING IN NORTH CAROLINA

The North Carolina mountains provide a wide selection of trails for both the inexperienced and advanced hikers. The national forests in North Carolina provide over 1,200 miles of primary foot trails; including seven National Recreation Trails and over 200 miles of the Appalachian Trail.

Andrews Bald

(6,030ft) One of the more popular hike in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park (GSMNP). Easy family trips with dense forestry and grassy bald with good views. The forest is especially nice in late June when the greenery blooms. From US 441 at Newfound Gap take Clingman's Dome Spur Road, 7.6 miles to the end. A marked hiking trail begins west of the parking area. Follow signs in parking lots. The Andrews Bald provides an easy 4-mile roundtrip.

Art Loeb Trail

(6,030 if) A linking of outstanding trails in Pisgah National Forest, which memorializes the late Arthur J. Loeb, who was an officer of the Carolina Mountain and executive of Olin Industries who has led in high esteem by associates in hiking, conservation, and industry. The trail offers an ideal venture for Boy Scouts or anyone seeking to extend hiking experience. Shelters and other refinements are provided. The entire trail is marked with direction signs. Section 1 (12.3 mi) starts on US 276, 1 mile west of US 64. The trail climbs to Neil Gap behind Davidson River Campground, west to Chesnut Knob, south of Cedar Rock, to Gloucester Gap. Section 2 (7.2 mi) goes from Gloucester Gap via Pilot Mountain through Farlow Gap, across Blue Ridge Parkway at Shuck Ridge, then across Silvermine Bald to Black Balsam trailhead. Section 3 (6.8 mi) climbs to Black Balsam Knob, across Tenneset Mountain, entering Shining Rock Wilderness at Ivestor Gap, crosses Flower Knob, Shinning Rock, Stairs Mountain, and Cold Mountain (6,030 if). Section 4 (3.8 mi) drops down from Deep Gap, below Cold Mountain, to Daniel Boone Scout Camp off NC 215.

Strenuous 30.1-mile hiking is offered. Camp Section 1,2, and 3 are part of the Mountain-to-Sea Trail.

Balsam Corner

(6,040 if) The trail goes through cool spruce and balsam forest in Great Smoky Mountain National Park. Spring water and shelter are offered near Balsam Corner Treat. Hike starts at Round Bottom parking area beside Straight Fork. The trail features a beautiful stream. From Highway 441 at park entry, turn on to the Big Cove- Road at 9 miles immediately across concrete bridge, turn right on to gravel road, and follow it for 5 miles to Round Bottom Parking area. Walk up road and cross the concrete bridge. About 150 yards beyond the bridge to the left is the faint Ledge Bald Trail. Make a steady gradual climb to Balsam Divide. Continue north on ridge until crossing Mount Sterling, then make a left to Tri-corner Knob and Mount Guyot on the A

Black Mountain

(4,286 ft.) From the Blue Ridge Parkway mile 441, drive 4 miles south on US 276 to Cradle of Forestry. Near east end of parking area, walk up graded road about 200 feet, just past the gate turn left (south) up Black Mountain Trail. Follow white markers on trial during steady climb to Buckhorn Gap and crosses between Clawhammer Mountain and Black Mountain. Then, descend past Hickory Knob and Little Hickory Knob to Forest Service Depot on US 276. Visit to the Cradle of Forestry is recommended. Other outstanding alternate trips after reaching Buckhorn Gap follow the blue triangle markers west to Avery Creek: then orange markers southwest to White Pines Campground on US 276. Black Mountain offers a moderate hike of 8 miles.

Catlooochee Valley

(2,643ft) Leave Blue Ridge Parkway milepost 458.2 in Heintooga Spur Road. A park is in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park at Paul's Gap 6.1 miles north, take the trail northeast on old railroad grade about 2 miles. Turn right onto the fine trail for Catoloochee Valley. At the fork onto Caldwell Fork Trail and descend to ranger station in the magnificent valley with many reminders of early settlers. The trail offers a strenuous 14-mile round trip. Can be combined with Pretty Hollow Gap Trail.

Charlie's Bunion

(5,560ft) from Newfound Gap on the AT. The trail offers a remarkably fine family hike in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park. It is a good camp all year, even in snow.

Walk east on the AT from US 441 at Newfound Gap. At 3 miles pass Ice Water Spring Shelter. Descend around Masa's Knob. At 4 miles reach bare rocks of Charlie's Bunyon where in 1925 great landslides revealed rock backbone underlying the Smokies. Great views of Mt. LeConte are offered in the 8-mile round trip.

Catawba Falls

(2,400ft) Offers a popular family trip to impressive waterfalls on headwaters of Catawba River. at the railroad station on US 70 is Old Fort, turn south onto Catawba Street; walk up farm road 1/4 mile to fork. Cross the river, walk up the stream, and pass a dam and abandoned powerhouse. When the road runs out after 35 minutes and becomes a streambed, walk left on the bank 15 paces, then on the right bank for 55 paces. Next, go sharply left (south) across the stream, continuing south for 175 paces (keeping left) to the base of lower Catawba Falls. Upper falls plunge into a large pool and can be reached in 30 minutes on steep, slippery trails. 3.5-mile hike on Private Property.

Cheoah Bald

(5,062ft) from Stecoah Gap on the AT. Leave NC 28 from gap just west of Stecoah; go to Sweetwater Road (SR 143) for 2 miles southwest to Stecoah Gap where the AT crosses. Park, then follow the white blazes: climb southeast very steeply on AT to crest water 200 yards right. Continue to the summit of Cheoah Bald at 4.3 miles. The trail provides a strenuous 8.6-mile hike and primitive camping.

Clingman's Dome

(6,642 ft) is the highest mountain in Great Smokie Mountain National Park. It is the second highest peak in Eastern America. Observation tower at the peak provides a splendid panoramic view from above. Drive 1.3 miles southwest to Indian Gap on Clingman's Dome Spur Road from US 441 to Newfound Gap. Park and go southwest on the AT, which passes through the gap just west of Spur Road. The trail provides a strenuous 2-mile roundtrip.

Grandfather Mountain

(5,964 ft) Is located in Linville area and has a mile-high swinging bridge which connects 2 of the peaks. Grandfather is the highest mountain on the Blue Ridge Range and a spectacular Alpine-like ridge-top hike is found there. The highest peaks can be reached only by trail man undeveloped 5,000-acre area. 7 trails have been designated by the US Department of the Interior on the 2 mountains. Located within 10 miles of 6 ski resorts, Grandfather is one of the snowiest spots in North Carolina and a popular winter backpacking and hiking site. From the east, the Daniel Boone Scout Trail reaches Calloway Peak, the mountain's highest point in 3 miles. The Boone Trail begins on the West side of US 221, 10.8 miles north of the US 221 and Highway 105 junction in Linville and 1.5 miles south of the Blue Ridge Parkway and Halloway Mountain Road junction with US 221. Other trails on the mountain reach Indian House Cave, one of the East's highest archeological sites, and Black Rock Cliffs Cave, a 6-room cavern. There are 3 trails on Grandfather Mountain form a national recreation trail day or multi-night backpacking circuit over Calloway Peak. Camping is permitted at many backcountry campsites where some shelters are provided. Hiking permits are required, and a fee is charged to support trail maintenance and monitoring system for safety. Permits are available at the Grandfather Mountain Entrance.

Crabtree Bald

(5,320ft) From the summit all 49 mountains in Western Carolina can be viewed from 6,000 feet. To get there, take NC 209 for 6 miles north from US 19 at Junaluska. Turn right onto SR 1503 near Crabtree-Ironduff School. Go 2 miles and turn left onto Bald Creek Road SR 1505. Go 3 miles, park where Indian Branch crosses under the road. Cross the pasture gate on the left, walk up paths and jeep trail to the ridgeline. Go southwest on crest to Crabtree Bald, identified by antenna on the top. NC 209 is also accessible from Fines Creek exit on I-40 if coming from the west. A moderate roundtrip of 7 miles on private property is offered. Contact owner in advance before hiking.

Linville Gorge

(2,600ft) Linville Gorge is one of Eastern America's most scenic and rugged gorges. It is also reputed to be the wildest and most treacherous area in the Blue Ridge Parkway, but the risks on graded trails described here are no greater than elsewhere in the wilds of the Southern Appalachians. The area has been set aside as a wilderness by the US Forest Service. Babel Tower Trails begin at the sign on the east side of old NC 105, 2.8 miles south from NC 183. None of these are circle trips, however, all the trails can be followed back to their starting points at 1 to 2.9 miles each. The Babel Tower Trail and Conley Cove Trail makes a hike of 8 miles. Before starting in the gorge, it is desirable to drive to Wisernen's View recreation site on old NC 105, 1.5 miles south of start of Babel Tower Trail. Here, the gorge can be scanned from overlooks that orient the hiker. The trail offers an 8-mile moderate hike.

Mount Mitchell

(6,684ft) From Black Mountain Campground in the Pisgah National Forest. Mount Mitchell is the highest point in Eastern America. A lookout tower provides a great panoramic from the summit. While you can drive nearly to the top, the more rewarding route is to hike from Black Mountain Campground to Mount Mitchell. The campground can be reached by turning from BR Parkway 33 miles north of Asheville at Deep Gap, milepost 351.9. A gravel road leads north 4.9 miles to the campground, marked trail begins in the northeast corner of the camping area. Near the top, the path goes through the dark green Fraser Fir forests. The hiking trail provides an 11-mile strenuous hike.

Pilot Mountain

(5,151ft) In mid-May, the slopes of the mountains are covered with Fullbloom Pinkshell Azalea. Views from the summit in all directions reveal the majesty and wildness of the Pisgah National Forest. From US 276, turn west onto Davidson River Road (Forest Service Road 475) 9.8 miles south of Wagon Road Gap on mile 411.9 on the Blue Ridge Parkway for 5.25 miles north of junction NC 280 and US 64; go 6.2 miles to Glouchester Gap, keep left at junctions; park 5 feet stone slab standing at the junction with Cathey's Creek Road. Climb northwest, right on Art Loeb Trail following the yellow blazes and silhouettes of hikers. Frequent switchbacks make the ascent moderate. It takes 1.5 hours to reach the summit. For a different return route, continue north from the summit, descending on the opposite side of the mountain on Jeep Road. The trail offers a moderate roundtrip of 6 miles and campsites.

Pretty Hollow Gap

(5,200ft) From Cataloochee Valley, in the Great Smokey Mountain National Park, the graded trail after 2.5 miles is easy. Much of the route is high above the gorge. Take US 276 for 5.8 miles north from US 19 at Dellwood. Turn left onto SR 1395 (old NC 284) just before I-40 entrance. Go 7.9 miles, then turn left onto the paved road. After 2.9 miles, turn left at the bridge in Cataloochee

Valley; drive 2 miles to the bridge at the old-school house. Park near the gate to the dirt road, cross the great head west. Follow the trail signs up the creek to Pretty Hollow Gap. It is worthwhile to go 2 miles more to Mount Sterling, which offers a magnificent view from the tower. A strenuous round trip is offered at 12 miles.

Roan Mountain National Recreation Trail

(6,286ft) Offers a loop trail that winds through Roan Mountain Gardens. A natural garden of rhododendron, fir trees, and grass openings are included. The peak of the bloom is in mid-June. Portions of the trail are paved with a viewing deck for the handicapped. Facilities include water, comfort station, picnic areas, and information stations are provided. Nearby, Cloudland Trail goes to an observation deck. Take NC 261 to Carver's Gap, turn left and follow the road to the summit and parking area.

Sandymush Bald

Shortoff Mountain

(3, 000 ft.) Is a highly recommended trip. A moderate walk to the lower end of Linville Gorge (Trail 90) along a series of cliffs offering unsurpassed views into the gorge with lake James as a backdrop in the distance. Exit from I-40 at Nebo-Lake James exit, east of Marion. Go north 2.8 miles; turn west, left for 0.3 miles; next, turn north, right onto NC 126, which leads around Lake James. After 10 miles, cross the Linville River; go 1.2 miles farther; turn onto the first road on Wolf Pit Road (Forest Road 117). Take the road 2.4 miles to turnaround at dead end to park. Walk 12 minutes more, reach another junction, go either right or left. In 13 minutes reach the 3rd junction; take the woodland footpath straight ahead west between two small gashed pine trees, avoiding the main road which climbs steeply right to the side road to the left which goes steeply downhill (pay special attention to stay on the right road). In 7 minutes, you will arrive at the first observation point on the cliffs. Walk north as far as desired along the edge of the cliffs on the tiny trail through rhododendron, laurel, and sand myrtle. A moderate roundtrip of 5-8 miles is provided.

Shut-In National Trail

(5, 000ft) It follows the historic route built by George Vanderbilt from the French Broad River to his Buck Springs Hunting Lodge. It was probably named for the many rhododendron thickets. Beginning at the NC 191 off-ramp of the Blue Ridge Parkway, it parallels and crosses the Parkway to Mount Pisgah parking area, near mile post 408. The trail offers a moderately strenuous dim from 2,000 ft to 5,000 ft along its 6.3-mile length. The Shut-In National Trail is part of the North Carolina Mountain to Sea Trail.
